

OpenCMISS Project

A project for the redevelopment of the CMISS computational modelling package.

Here you can find information for the opencmis project. This project is all about redeveloping the CMISS computational modelling package to take advantage of modern programming languages, data structures, and todays range of available high performance hardware.

We have a wiki documenting the progress.